Our goal is to manage client's portfolios with a focus on long term outperformance and above-average risk-adjusted returns. This requires us to determine and track long-term industry trends / technological changes that could affect the business models of the companies we invest in. While not necessarily ESG factors (but inclusive of) we actively monitor and analyze a variety of structural change developments, to assess whether their impact is going to be realized over the longer term or if that reality is accelerating (e.g. climate change, automation, disintermediation of retail etc. to name a few) The underlying industry analyst is responsible for tracking these secular trends and then advising the portfolio management and research team about its impact We define longer term structural change as > 5 years in terms of economic impact, medium term as 3 to 5 years and short term as less than 3 years. Although the time line could be uncertain what is more important is to identify risk factors and track signs when changes are accelerating (i.e. occurring faster than initially envisioned)

TDAM has collaborated extensively with Canadian securities regulators on environmental and social disclosure for many years

In the summer of 2010, TDAM and the Canada Pension Plan Investment Board were the only two institutional investors who were on the expert panel that helped the Ontario Securities Commission write Canada's national regulatory notice on environmental disclosure

In the fall of 2010, we trained more than 150 staff of Canada's various securities commissions on environmental and social disclosure issues

In 2011, TDAM helped the Toronto Stock Exchange design and run E&S disclosure workshops for 75 representatives of listed companies across a wide range of industries

Our policy explicitly supports efforts by Canadian securities regulators to be more active in enforcing ESG disclosure standards

With respect to proxy voting, when a disconnect exists between CEO pay and shareholder performance, we believe it is insufficient to only cast an opposing vote on a non-binding decision regarding CEO pay. Our default is to also cast a binding vote against all members of the board's compensation committee for having allowed the disconnect to occur

We use a systematic and repeatable process for evaluating fixed income issuers. To the extent that ESG issues are relevant, they are incorporated into our systematic review of an issuer. FI 11.1	Describe your approach to integrating ESG into traditional financial analysis.

ESG issues are incorporated into our process of assessing risk. We consider which ESG factors are relevant to a company's credit rating, then determine whether the factor is material enough to impact the rating over the time frame where we may invest or be invested in the company's fixed income securities

FI 11.2	Describe how your ESG integration approach is adapted to each of the different types of fixed income you invest in.

SSA

We consider all three types of risk for SSAs, with a particular focus on the transparency and predictability of government decision-making that affects credit risk. We also consider social factors, such as human rights, and environmental factors, particularly relating to the costs of climate change, in assessing an SSA's ability to meet its debt obligations

Corporate (financial)

At the operational level, we focus on governance issues. We also look at underlying lending activities to determine what policies are in place to promote sustainability

Corporate (non-financial)

Varies significantly by industry. Generally, corporate is where we have the highest risks from ESG factors. The highest risks typically relate to CO2 emitting industries, such as mining, and power utilities

FI 19	Voluntary	Descriptive	PRI 1,2
-------	-----------	-------------	---------

FI 19.1	Provide examples of how your incorporation of ESG analysis and/or your engagement of issuers has affected your fixed income investment outcomes during the reporting year.

Example 1

Corporate (non-financial)
ESG issue and explanation	A multinational consumer products company sells both sugar-heavy drinks and also healthier options. We linked the sale of unhealthy products into a less favourable social consideration score
Integration
Impact on investment decision or performance	The healthier business segments have been growing sales at a faster rate than the more un-healthy business segments

Example 2

Corporate (non-financial)
ESG issue and explanation	Large European automakers tend to produce a high level of diesel vehicles, which emit greenhouse gases. We incorporated this environmental concern into our analysis
Integration
Impact on investment decision or performance	Increased regulation towards greenhouse gas emitting cars will lead to increased costs for compliance. More environmentally conscious automakers may be more competitive, all else equal

Example 3

Corporate (non-financial)
ESG issue and explanation	Credit risk of electrical utilities with high CO2 emissions
Integration
Impact on investment decision or performance	For investment-grade debt issued by electric utilities, we have included a ranking of CO2 emissions in our analysis. We believe that the highest emitters have a generally lower credit quality than their peers. We believe that the highest emitters have the highest uncompensated risk of future costs arising from issues such as abatement, carbon taxes, decommissioning and emissions-related lawsuits
