Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objectives and Strategies

The investment objective of TD Emerald Canadian Equity Index Fund (the "Fund") is to seek to track the performance of the S&P/TSX Composite Index. In seeking to achieve this objective, the Fund invests in Canadian issuers traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange in substantially the same proportion that such securities are weighted in the S&P/TSX Composite Index. The Fund may also invest in foreign securities not to exceed 10% of the Fund's net assets at the time that the foreign securities are purchased and may use derivatives.

Risk

The risks of investing in the Fund remain as outlined in the simplified prospectus.

Results of Operations

The Class B units of the Fund returned 22.9% for the year ended December 31, 2019 ("Reporting Period"), versus 22.9% for the Fund's product benchmark and general market index, the S&P/TSX Composite Total Return Index ("S&P/TSX Composite TR Index"). Unlike the product benchmark and general market index, the Fund's return is quoted after the deduction of fees and expenses.

Market Update

Canadian economic growth, as measured by gross domestic product, was relatively strong over the Reporting Period, particularly in the second quarter. This was largely in response to a significant rise in exports. While economic growth slowed in the third quarter, it remained fairly robust, largely as a result of strong consumer spending, business investment and real estate investment.

Inflation was steady over the Reporting Period and in line with the Bank of Canada's ("BoC") target range. While the labour market was generally stable, the unemployment rate experienced a notable increase to 5.9% near the end of the Reporting Period as a result of job losses. At its latest meeting, the BoC held its benchmark interest rate steady at 1.75% and noted it would closely monitor global economic strength when making any adjustments to the benchmark interest rate in Canada.

The Canadian equity market recorded a gain over the Reporting Period, with 10 of 11 sectors posting positive returns. Information technology, utilities and industrials were the strongest-performing sectors, while health care, communication services and consumer staples were the weakest-performing sectors.

The information technology sector was bolstered by easing U.S.-China trade tensions and robust demand for the sector's products. The defensive utilities sector performed well in response to the strong real estate market (defensive sectors are typically less affected by changes in the economy). The industrials sector benefited from strong earnings growth by companies within the sector and an improved global economic outlook, which followed the preliminary U.S.-China trade agreement.

Key Contributors/Detractors

The Fund continues to be managed with the objective of seeking to track the performance of its benchmark. The Fund's returns are influenced by the same factors that affect the Canadian equity market.

Recent Developments

Looking ahead, the Portfolio Adviser continues to monitor a variety of macroeconomic factors that could impact financial markets. Heading into 2020, global central banks tempered optimism about the global economy, lowering growth forecasts accordingly. In the Portfolio Adviser's view, Brexit uncertainty and weak industrial production are hampering economic growth in Europe. Over the first few months of 2020, policy makers became concerned about the economic effects of the COVID-19 outbreak. Monetary policy is broadly expected to remain accommodative as central banks seek to insulate the global economy from decreased demand and a disruption of supply chains in the wake of the COVID-19. The Portfolio Adviser expects the Bank of Canada and the U.S. Federal Reserve Board to implement further accommodative policy action in the near term. Inflation is expected to remain tepid while labour market strength will be tested. The Portfolio Adviser expects a continued low interest rate environment in the coming year.

In the Portfolio Adviser's view, financial markets may experience periods of volatility as a slowing global economy, geopolitical tensions and lingering trade disputes between the U.S. and China cause uncertainty for investors. The Portfolio Adviser continues to monitor all of the factors that could influence the Fund's investment portfolio.

Regarding the recent COVID-19 outbreak, the Portfolio Adviser is aware of the negative economic consequences and continues to closely monitor the impact to markets. While there is no definitive way to estimate the degree of the economic damage as different governments and central banks may have different abilities to respond, the Portfolio Adviser believes the U.S. economy could be relatively resilient to a global downturn given strong corporate health, low unemployment, a relatively high savings rate and strong consumer spending. The Portfolio Adviser continues to monitor the risk and will adjust positioning when warranted.

<sup>1</sup> This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual financial statements prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards. The Fund measures fair value of its investments based on close market prices, where the close market price falls within the bid-ask spread or based on quotations from recognized dealers. As such, the Fund's accounting policies for measuring the fair value of investments in the financial statements are substantively consistent with those used in measuring the net asset value ("NAV") for transactions with unitholders.

<sup>2</sup> Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial periods. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of the net assets per unit.

<sup>3</sup> Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.

Net Asset Value per Unit ($)	44.48	37.38	43.44	40.94	34.85

<sup>2</sup> Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses (excluding distributions, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) net of any waivers or absorptions for the stated period, including the Fund's proportionate share of the MER, if any, of the underlying fund(s) in which the Fund has invested in, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average NAV during the period. Any waivers or absorptions may be discontinued at any time by TDAM at its discretion without notice.

<sup>3</sup> The trading expense ratio ("TER") represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average NAV during the stated period. Where a Fund invests in units of any underlying fund, the TER presented for the Fund includes the portion of TERs, if available, of the underlying fund(s) attributable to this investment.

<sup>4</sup> The Fund's portfolio turnover rate ("PTR") indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its investments. A PTR of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the stated period. The higher a fund's PTR, the greater the trading costs payable, directly or indirectly, by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the fiscal year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

Management Fees

The Fund's Class B units do not pay a management fee to TDAM. Instead, such fees are negotiated separately and paid directly by unitholders.

Past Performance

The following chart shows how the Fund has performed in the past, and can help you understand the risks of investing in the Fund. These returns include the reinvestment of all distributions and would be lower if an investor did not reinvest distributions. They do not include deduction of sales, switch, redemption, or other optional charges (which dealers may charge) or income taxes payable, and these returns would be lower if they did. The Fund’s past performance does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-year returns

The bar chart shows how the Fund’s performance has varied from year to year for each of the years shown. It shows in percentage terms how an investment made on January 1 would have increased or decreased by December 31.
