Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Results of Operations

The Class B units of TD Emerald Canadian Short Term Investment Fund (the "Fund") returned 1.1% for the six-month period ended June 30, 2019 ("Reporting Period"), versus 0.8% for the Fund's product benchmark. The Fund's product benchmark is the FTSE Canada 91 Day T-Bill Index. Unlike the product benchmark, the Fund's return is quoted after the deduction of fees and expenses.

Market Update

Over the Reporting Period, the Canadian economy was supported by a healthy labour market; however, it experienced relatively weak annualized gross domestic product growth over the first quarter of 2019. Ongoing trade uncertainty between the U.S. and China weighed on markets and caused volatility. In response to soft growth and global trade disruptions, the Bank of Canada held its benchmark interest rate at 1.75% throughout the Reporting Period. Canada's unemployment rate generally fell throughout the Reporting Period, hitting its lowest level since 1976 in May, as a substantial number of jobs were added to the economy. Canada's inflation rate steadily increased, moving closely with the price of oil, and rose towards the end of the Reporting Period as a result of higher food prices.

The Government of Canada 91-day Treasury bill yield was 1.66% at the end of the Reporting Period, up slightly from 1.65% at the start of the Reporting Period.

Key Contributors/Detractors

The Fund continued to be managed with an emphasis on short-term credit investments, with a focus on earning interest income. The Fund performed within expectations, slightly outperforming its product benchmark. Capital preservation and maintaining liquidity are key priorities for the Fund.

Recent Developments

Looking ahead, the Portfolio Adviser continues to be mindful of a variety of macroeconomic factors that may influence the performance of financial markets. Global economic indicators have begun to show signs of slowing growth, particularly across the eurozone and the U.K. There appears to be a greater dispersion among major regions, as economic data and sentiment in the U.S. remain resilient. Nonetheless, industrial production, job creation and construction activity have all been broadly positive. While these factors are supportive of continued economic growth, the Portfolio Adviser cautions that any optimism should be balanced against potential risks, including geopolitical developments, trade protectionism and central bank actions.

The Portfolio Adviser expects major global central bank policies to be supportive of continuing economic expansion. Monetary policy action in the near term is likely to become more accommodative, as central banks have pivoted to a cautious stance in 2019. Inflation measures have largely remained below target, as economic uncertainty has manifested itself in episodes of financial market volatility. The Portfolio Adviser believes heightened inflation is not likely to be the primary concern of global central banks in 2019. While solid economic fundamentals and strong corporate earnings are supportive of global equity prices, the Portfolio Adviser anticipates that geopolitical uncertainty, trade tensions and, more specifically, their impact on global growth could lead to greater volatility in financial markets over the balance of the year.

Under such circumstances, the Portfolio Adviser expects earnings growth to slow but remain broadly positive, and companies generating substantial free cash flow are expected to continue to boost dividends and repurchase shares, supporting equity markets. Market valuations for higher-risk assets appear to be at fair value in a historical context. Credit spreads (the difference in yields between corporate bonds and government bonds with similar maturities) are supported by low interest rates and a search for yield by global investors. The Portfolio Adviser maintains a preference for quality and, as such, is cautiously optimistic. In addition, the Portfolio Adviser anticipates that the lower-for-longer interest rate environment may continue for a prolonged period. Lastly, the Portfolio Adviser continues to monitor all of the factors that could influence the Fund's investment portfolio.

¹ This information is derived from the Fund's interim and audited annual financial statements prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards. The Fund measures fair value of its investments based on close market prices, where the close market price falls within the bid-ask spread or based on quotations from recognized dealers. As such, the Fund's accounting policies for measuring the fair value of investments in the financial statements are substantively consistent with those used in measuring the net asset value ("NAV") for transactions with unitholders.

² Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial periods. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of the net assets per unit.

³ Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.

¹ This information is provided as at June 30, 2019 and December 31 of the past five fiscal years, as applicable.

² Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses (excluding distributions, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) net of any waivers or absorptions for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average NAV during the period. Any waivers or absorptions may be discontinued at any time by TDAM at its discretion without notice.

³ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average NAV during the stated period.

⁴ The Fund's portfolio turnover rate ("PTR") indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its investments. A PTR of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the stated period. The higher a fund's PTR, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the fiscal year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

Management Fees

The Fund's Class B units do not pay a management fee to TDAM. Instead, such fees are negotiated separately and paid directly by unitholders.

Past Performance

The following chart shows how the Fund has performed in the past, and can help you understand the risks of investing in the Fund. These returns include the reinvestment of all distributions and would be lower if an investor did not reinvest distributions. They do not include deduction of sales, switch, redemption, or other optional charges (which dealers may charge) or income taxes payable, and these returns would be lower if they did. The Fund's past performance does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-year returns

The bar chart shows how the Fund's performance has varied from year to year for each of the years shown. It shows in percentage terms how an investment made on January 1 would have increased or decreased by December 31 for each year and for the six-month period ended June 30, 2019.

For the 12 months ended Dec. 31 and six-month period ended June 30, 2019
